

YEOMALT CABIN'S REHABILITATION!

From Horse Power...

This winter, after ceremonial tree blessings, Girl & Boy Scouts with Mayor Kordonowy harvested trees by hand, horses hauled logs from the forest, & volunteers began peeling them at our City, State & National Historic Registered Yeomalt Cabin, historically known as "Camp Major Hopkins."

YEOMALT MATTERS . . .

Because the cabin ...

- is a rare architectural treasure crafted of Island stone & timber; "...is a palace...you'd be fools not to save!" — National Park architect, Fred Walters;
- has a rich and significant history; used by three-generations by Island youth & Scouts; the only Island building built by the Depression-era federal WPA; our first public park; built to help youth in toughest economic times; —and because it needs our stewardship NOW!

To People Power

"Team Yeomalt" preservation team, volunteers & park staff, assembled specialists to prepare rehabilitation plans. Now fundraising has begun to raise over $150,000 to complete the project, co-sponsored by The BI Park Foundation. The BI Metro Park District is supporting one-third of project costs ($50,000).

THE RESTORED CABIN will have glazed windows and trim, a fireplace mantel from a 9' x 12" x 6" timber of yew or madrona. The floor will look similar and will contain heating coils. The floor will be slightly lower and allow flush building access for ADA compliance.

The skylight panels will be removed and replaced by cedar shakes. A new electrical system and special lighting will be installed.

Furnishings will be rustic with wood benches crafted locally from historic trees. The raised stage floor will be of large width wooden planks over concrete subfloor.
